

JAPAN FEARS THAT AMERICANS HAVE A BOMBING PLAN

Thinks Plan Has Been Made
To Bomb Imperial Empire
At Will

BOMBERLANDS IN RUSSIA

Japanese Are Still Without Knowledge of Where The Planes Came From

By International News Service
Japan's apparent fear that American military leaders have devised a plan whereby they can bomb the Imperial Empire almost at will was increased today following a Moscow announcement that a United States bombing plane had landed in Siberia after losing its bearings.

The official Soviet News Agency, Tass, said an American bomber had made a forced landing in Russia's Siberian maritime province last Saturday, the day on which four Japanese cities suffered aerial bombardments.

Moscow quoted reports from Khabarovsk, 400 miles north of the Soviet port and naval base of Vladivostok, which related that the American bomber came down in Russian Far Eastern territory after the raids on Japan. The point at which the landing was made was not given. Thus it was not known whether the bomber came down along the Pacific coast or near Khabarovsk itself, which is 200 miles inland. Probability that the bomber landed in an isolated area was seen in the fact that almost a week has elapsed since the landing took place.

The American fliers and the plane, the Russians said, were interned in accordance with international law which provides that members of a fighting force of a nation at war landing in a neutral country be taken into custody. Although Russia is at war with Germany, Japan's axis partner, friendly relations are maintained with the latter.

"Members of the crew," the Moscow radio reported, "said they had lost their bearings."

If the plane came down in the vicinity of Khabarovsk after attacking Tokyo it would have traveled 950 miles northwest of the Japanese capital before coming to a landing.

While the reported landing of the American bomber in Siberia gave the Japs some satisfaction that the attack against Tokyo, Yokohama, Nagoya and Kobe was conducted by United States craft they still were without knowledge of where the planes came from.

Washington remained silent. Both the War and Navy departments, even after the Moscow announcement, said they had "no comment."

However, the fact that the planes which threw the Japanese into an extreme state of war jitters apparently were heavy bombers seemed to toss into the discard early suggestions by Tokyo that the attacking craft were launched from aircraft carriers. The Japs claimed that three carriers were sighted off the empire's eastern coast prior to the appearance of the raiders. Bombers of the type which Tokyo said participated in the raids are much too heavy to have been brought to Japanese shores aboard carriers.

Working on the subsequent theory that the planes must have come from land bases, the Japs have been scouting provinces adjacent to Japanese-held territory in China in an effort to determine whether the planes had been operating from Chinese bases.

Russia, in revealing the presence of the grounded American plane in Siberia, was quick to deny that American planes had come from that area.

TELLS OF PRIMITIVE LIFE IN NEWFOUNDLAND

Dr. Deutsch Describes Activities As District Nurse in That Area

AT CLUB RECEPTION

The primitive life of the people of Newfoundland was pictured for club members here last evening by Dr. Deutsch, who spent many summers in that Northern clime as a district nurse.

Dr. Deutsch spoke in the Travel Club home when the Junior Travel Club entertained the members of the senior Travel Club.

She told of the lack of vegetation in Newfoundland, due to the rocky soil; adding that the women do practically all of the work with the exception of fishing, which the men carry out as a main means of livelihood. Fishing is their only source of income, it was stated.

During her many summers in Newfoundland, Dr. Deutsch served as midwife, nurse, and physician. This woman physician is now in exile from Czechoslovakia.

Mrs. Arlene Ward provided two piano solo: "Lento" (Scott); and "Malgueña" (Lecocq).

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Edward Priestley, Miss Ethel Moore, Mrs. John Black and Mrs. Francis Bessler.

The Juniors will conduct a dance at Langhorne Country Club on May 23rd, a popular orchestra providing music from 10 to 2 o'clock.

Dr. Robert O. Vandusen Gives Address On Fish

"Life and Habits of Fish in Captivity" was the subject of a talk given yesterday at the regular weekly meeting of the Bristol Rotary Club. The speaker was Dr. Robert O. Vandusen, director of Fairmount Park Aquarium and an honorary member of the Key West Florida Rotary Club.

The talk of Dr. Vandusen was interesting and instructive and much enjoyed by the Rotarians. At the conclusion of his address Dr. Vandusen answered many questions of the Rotarians.

Mrs. Frank Haimbach, 84, Dies at Langhorne Home

LANGHORNE, Apr. 24.—At the age of 84 years, Mrs. Ida Hartmann Haimbach died at her home, 111 West Maple avenue, last evening. She was the widow of Frank Haimbach.

Mrs. Haimbach's survivors are two daughters, Miss Minna Haimbach, Langhorne; Mrs. Frank Lyons, South Langhorne; two sons, Frank, of Philadelphia; and Albert, of Langhorne; and 10 grandchildren.

The services will be held at the Horner funeral home, Langhorne, on Monday at 10:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Mt. Peace Cemetery, Philadelphia; and friends may call Sunday evening.

Bristol Township and Tullytown Get Funds

HARRISBURG, April 24.—Thirty-three third and fourth class school districts in 17 counties will share a total of $56,457 in State aid approved today by Auditor General F. Clair Ross as reimbursements for high school tuition paid during the 1940-41 school year.

Today's payment represents the fourth to be made for this purpose, since reports from all districts were not in form for warranting by the Department of Public Instruction when earlier disbursements were made.

Sharing this latest payment will be: Bristol Township, $6,419.25; Tullytown, $873.33.

Needed One Coach; Was Offered Six

When the Red Cross home service department in Bristol desired donation of a baby coach for use by a needy family, The Bristol Courier was asked to insert an advertisement for such.

Miss Frances Landreth, chairman of home service, before she had opportunity to retrieve her own copy of The Courier from the porch of her home, had three offers of coaches through telephone calls. Later three more offers were received.

"Those 'ads' certainly bring results," she informed publishers of The Courier today.

Senator Davis Has Promise For Everyone

(Harrisburg Telegraph, April 18, 1942)

U. S. Senator James J. Davis has mapped out an ambitious, 10-point program upon which to conduct his campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. It is a platform so broad that the promises it contains could be fulfilled only if the Senator were able to centralize the powers and authority of Congress and the President of the United States in the Governor's office on Capital Hill.

With his characteristic preference for generalities, Senator Davis was able to summarize his whole program in a single paragraph but the ground he attempted to cover in trying to interest every conceivable group of voters was indicated by the equally terse headline which one newspaper placed over the item: "Davis Promises to Help Everyone."

As part of the Herculean job he is ready to assume in the vote-getting stage of the primary election, Senator Davis promises to "protect pay envelopes and the farmers' pocketbook against ruinous inflation."

If Senator Davis were able to fulfill this one campaign promise alone, the other nine points of his program probably would be unnecessary and more or less inconsequential. At Washington and throughout the country, the Nation's best economists, together with the outstanding members of the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives have been wrestling with this problem for at least a year. They have been approaching anti-inflation measures from every angle and, despite the concentration of vast experience and keen intellects, have been unable to make much progress.

Regardless of all this, Senator Davis has blithely inserted a casual promise to "protect pay envelopes and the farmers' pocketbook against ruinous inflation." It is the fourth of his ten campaign points, and he promises to get around to it after working miracles with the productive facilities of the Commonwealth, the defense industries and tax dollars. Then, after solving the inflation problem, he proposes to take on six other jobs, including the abandonment of New York State's St. Lawrence waterway and the little matter of "bringing effective harmony between Harrisburg and Washington."

Serious consideration of Senator Davis' ten-point program can start and stop with his inflation promise. There are innumerable reasons for this conclusion but two should be sufficient:

First—There is not a single practical thing which the Governor of Pennsylvania can do to check inflation; and Second—If Senator Davis were tremendously interested in this problem, he could best contribute his bit from his present place in the U. S. Senate which ultimately will have to vote on anti-inflation legislation.

The fact is that, point by point, the program Senator Davis has devised is one which could be attacked far more effectively from a seat in the United States Senate than from the executive chair in the Governor's office. Each of the problems Davis proposes to help solve from Harrisburg is at the top of the list of responsibilities he is actually avoiding through his decision to vacate his Senate seat while he campaigns for the governorship nomination.

All of the issues he includes in his program are issues which, especially in wartime, must be attacked and solved on a National scale. There is, for example, no conceivable manner by which the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania could control inflation within its boundaries while the surrounding states either adopted anti-inflation methods or reached the logical conclusion that they could do nothing about the matter on a purely state basis.

In promising to "bring effective harmony between Harrisburg and Washington" Senator Davis completely ignores the fact that his recent voting record in the Senate would seriously handicap him for such an effort.

As one of Pennsylvania's Senators, Davis has missed many big opportunities to contribute to this objective. He passed up one exceptional chance when he voted against the Lend-Lease Bill by which Great Britain's resistance to the Axis was fortified to allow Pennsylvania and the Nation priceless time in which to speed up National defense and the production of war materials. He missed another when he voted against the Selective Service Act that enabled hun-

LIBRARIES IN TIME OF WAR TO BE CONSIDERED

Dr. A. D. Keator, Harrisburg,
To Speak To Bucks-Montgomery Librarians

MEETING ON TUESDAY

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 24.—Activities at their respective libraries will be touched upon when members gather for the spring session of Bucks-Montgomery Library Association in the Krauskopf Memorial Library at National Farm School on Tuesday next.

Dr. Alfred D. Keator, director of state libraries at Harrisburg, will be one of the speakers of the day, dwelling upon "Libraries in War Time" and Miss Evelyn L. Matthews, of the Extension Division of Libraries, Harrisburg, will consider "Problems Facing Small Libraries." Another speaker listed is Mrs. Howard Clymer whose subject will be "Reflections on New Books."

The meeting will open at 10 a. m. with Mrs. Maud Maines presiding. Records will be in charge of secretary Miss Amy Preston; and Mrs. Howard Clymer will give the treasurer's report.

The address of welcome will be extended by Dr. Harold B. Allen, president of the National Farm School. Miss Matrona E. Walck, principal of Buckingham senior high school, will speak on Reading Helps.

A tour of the campus will be conducted at the noon hour.

BAKE SALE

A bake sale will be conducted in the Sunday School room of First Baptist Church tomorrow at 10 a. m. The World Wide Guild is the sponsor.

May Register at Tullytown

Another point has been designated in this area for registration of men for selective service on Monday next. Men between 45 and 65 years of age will also be registered at Tullytown public school building, in addition to the other points previously listed.

EXPECT FORMS FOR SUGAR RATIONING TO ARRIVE TODAY

Trade Outlets Will Be Registered Two Days Next Week

OTHERS AT LATER DATE

Registration Cards May Be Filled Out in Advance But Not Signed

Members of the faculty of Bristol borough schools were given instruction yesterday afternoon by Warren P. Snyder, chief registrar for sugar rationing for this area, in regard to work entailed on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 28th and 29th, when they will register representatives of the trade for sugar rationing.

The group met in the high school building yesterday where full instructions were given.

Only trade rationing forms will be filled in next week, the consumer registration occurring at a later date.

It is announced that only the owner, partner, officer or manager of a firm may register; clerks and bookkeepers not being the proper individuals to sign the forms. The group includes: Storekeepers in Bristol who sell sugar to the retail trade; and institutional and industrial users of sugar in Bristol.

The hours for local registration will be from two until nine o'clock p. m., at the Jefferson avenue and Wood street public school buildings. Mr. Snyder announced today that forms will in all probability be received today or by Monday, and when received members of the trade may secure same at the Bristol high school office. These forms may be filled in entirely, with the exception of the signature which must be affixed in the presence of the registrar.

The information that must be supplied by each store-keeper is the total gross sales for all meat, groceries, fruits, and vegetables for the entire week ending April 25, 1942; sugar delivered to and accepted by his store unit during the month of November, 1941; and present inventory of sugar in pounds.

The institutional and industrial users of sugar in Bristol will be required to tell the amount of sugar used during each calendar month for the year 1941; and the number of pounds of sugar (inventory) now owned.

In Bensalem Township, A. Kurtz King, superintendent of Bensalem Township public schools, who is the registrar, lists the hours of the trade registration on the 28th and 29th, as from two to five and from seven to nine p. m. Retail dealers may register at either the Trevose junior high school or at Bensalem township high school. Attention is called to the fact

ONE FIREMAN BURNED FIGHTING GRASS FIRE

Milton Woolston, Morrisville, Given First-Aid and Then Taken To His Home

FLAMES COVER 5 ACRES

MORRISVILLE, Apr. 24.—A strong wind fanned flames over five acres of woodland and brush in nearby sections last night. One fireman was injured and more than a score of homes were endangered. The fire was in the Oak avenue and West Ferry road sections.

The fire was discovered at about 7:30 in the rear of an Oak avenue residence, the flames spreading quickly in a northwesterly direction toward the Morrisville water tank.

Members of the Capitol View and Union fire companies, under Chief Miller, responded to the alarm.

Predict Further Curtailment of "Gas"

Washington—Further curtailment of gasoline supplies to filling stations in 17 Eastern States was predicted today as the Government clamped down on long-distance trucking and deliveries by retail stores and milk distributors.

Informed officials said that the new restrictions on gasoline delivery will go into effect even before rationing of motor fuel begins on May 15.

Although Federal Petroleum Administrator Harold Ickes and Price Administrator Leon Henderson are plainly at odds over the amount of the weekly ration to be given the average motorist, officials said that the gasoline shortage situation along the Atlantic Seaboard is desperate.

Henderson's office still planned to limit the average motorist to from 2 1/2 to five gallons of gasoline a week. Ickes holds that there was "no justification" in anticipating such a drastic cut.

RAF Bombers Raid Rostock

London—Using giant four-engined bombers, the Royal Air Force early today staged a devastating raid on the German Baltic city of Rostock, site of the factories where the Heinkel fighting and bombing planes are manufactured, and ranged over Berlin in a series of new attacks on Britain's aerial "second front" in Europe.

A brief Air Ministry communique gave few details of the Rostock attack, but it was understood this raid compared with the R. A. F. assault against Lubek recently, where even more damage was done than the Luftwaffe was able to wreak at Coventry.

Hundreds of tons of bombs were estimated to have been dropped in the Rostock raid, one of the heaviest long-distance forays yet undertaken by the Royal Air Force.

Farewell Party Tendered Here To Mrs. S. Kelber

Mrs. Harry White, Lafayette street, entertained at her home on Tuesday evening. The affair was in the form of a surprise farewell party for Mrs. S. Kelber, Monroe street, who will soon leave for an extended visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kelber, in California. The guests presented Mrs. Kelber with a pair of lounging slippers. Refreshments were served in the dining room which was decorated in pink and green. A bouquet of yellow daisies formed the table centerpiece.

Those present: Mrs. James Richardson, Mrs. John Bensch, Mrs. Elsie Lovett, Mrs. Harry Swank, Mrs. Walter Cooper.

SHEPHERDS LODGE HAS ANNIVERSARY BANQUET

44th Annual Affair is Held in I. O. O. F. Hall; Games Then Enjoyed

TWO GUESTS OF HONOR

The 44th anniversary banquet of Shepherds Delight Lodge, No. 1, Shepherds of Bethlehem, took place last evening in I. O. O. F. hall, Radcliffe and Walnut streets, with covers placed for 20.

Members were privileged to invite guests; and out-of-town guests of the order were Mrs. Harry Williams, deputy supreme commander; and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Williams, both of Philadelphia.

A delicious baked ham dinner was served; with a variety of games following. Mrs. William Harding, chairman of the good of the order committee, was in charge of arrangements.

The local lodge is the oldest Shepherds Lodge in Pennsylvania, and the second oldest in the United States.

Bensalem Operetta Goes Over in Good Style

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Apr. 24.—The first performance of "Blue Moon," the Bensalem High School operetta, took place last night before an enthusiastic audience.

To set the audience into the proper mood, Lois Lange, who has been accompanist for these events for the last five years, played the colorful overture in her very best fashion. Miss Lange also provided the music for the soloists and choruses throughout the production.

The curtain opened on the "Moon Lady" numbers Helen Perkins, the soloist, is perched up on a prop resembling a large moon. On the floor, around her, is the "Moon Lady" girls chorus. This number is both beautiful and impressive.

The operetta is fast moving, enjoyable, and entertaining. The many chorus numbers adds a Broadway touch to the performance. The musical numbers include: "In My Garden," sung by Bernice Fischer and Bill Johnson; "Hop Sing Hi," sung by DeWitt Spencer; Bernice Fischer and Bill Johnson return singing "Once in a Blue Moon"; "No Use Proposing" is sung by Lester Engle; Owen McGarity sings "The Last Time I Saw Paris"; and "My Home Town" is sung by Charles Rittenhouse; "Orange Blossoms," sung by Betty Judd, and "Chattanooga Choo Choo," by the freshman boys chorus.

Gorgeous costumes, and beautiful music, helped make the operetta choruses among the best here in many a moon. The dance number featured Rita Vincent, a talented dancer if there ever was one, and a sensational dance chorus.

As for the leads, Betty Judd, Peter Everett, Charles Rittenhouse, and Lester Engle topped all their past performances. Owen McGarity added another to his many great comedy performances. He was funnier than ever. Newcomers Bernice Fischer and Bill Johnson deserve special praise for such exceptional work. Two other newcomers, Margaretta Weidock and DeWitt Spencer, also did well. Other outstanding dramatic performers were Constance Johnson, who was a scream; Ann Digerlamo, Andrew Babesh, and Amelia Sullivan.

Credit should also be given to the directors, Grace E. Paist and Axel R. Kleinsork; the prompter, Virginia Oliver; the business manager, DeWitt Spencer; and all those who helped make "Blue Moon" an operetta that can be seen only once in a blue moon.

Slow Down That Speed!

(By "The Stroller")
Defense workers coming into this area each day to their places of employment are urged to take it "easy" and not "burn up" the highways.

The speeding motorist is a menace to himself and the general public as well.

Complaints are being made that Radcliffe, Otter, Beaver, and some of the other streets in the Borough are becoming race courses.

Police have arrested and as many as ten motorists a week have been fined for reckless driving.

Mr. Defense Worker:
Don't speed through Bristol! Leave your home a little earlier each day and drive slower. Your services are needed in the war effort.

MOTORCYCLIST IS INJURED IN FRONT OF HOSPITAL HERE

Patient Sees Accident; Injured Walks In To Receive Treatment

NAVAL MAN IS HURT

Filipino, Serving at The Phila. Navy Yard, in Crash at Andalusia

Thrown from his skidding motorcycle in front of Harriman Hospital as a patient in that institution looked on, Elmore Pillsbury, Wilson avenue, a minute later walked into the hospital to be treated for injuries sustained. In a crash at Andalusia this morning a naval man was hurt.

The Pillsbury accident occurred at 6:45 last evening as Pillsbury rounded a curve on Wilson avenue, enroute to his employment at the plant of Fleetwings, Inc.

He was treated for contused, lacerated wound on the right side of his face; a small incised wound of the face, and an incision over the right eye. In each of the latter one stitch was required. He also had abrasions of the chin and both hands. Pillsbury remained in the hospital overnight.

A former commander in the U. S. Navy, who was recalled to service, and has been serving as a chief petty officer at Philadelphia Navy Yard, was injured on Bristol Pike, near Red Lion Road, Andalusia, this morning at 3:30, when the car he was operating struck a pole.

The injured is Raymond Joson, aged 54, of Bridge street, Philadelphia, a Filipino.

Joson was taken to the Harriman Hospital in the ambulance of Bucks County Rescue Squad. He has an incised wound of the upper lip requiring four stitches; possible fracture of the jaw; and lost three teeth. This morning an ambulance from the Naval Hospital, Philadelphia, removed him to that institution.

Damage to the front of the car is estimated at $150. Officers Forestin and Sauer of Pa. Motor Police, South Langhorne barracks, investigated.

Motion Picture Deals With Drilling for Oil

Howard Booz, Philadelphia, representing The Texas Company, showed to members of Bristol Exchange Club, last evening, a motion picture dealing with the drilling of an oil well. The meeting took place in the Elks' home.

The film presented the work entailed from the excavation for foundations until oil is struck. Mr. Booz gave the Exchangees opportunity to answer questions. He was introduced by Paul Voltz. The presiding officer was Russell DeLong.

THE FRENCH FLEET

The Vichy regime, now under the dark-visaged Laval, has ordered British subjects in unoccupied France away from the Riviera. Much of the French fleet has been based at Toulon.

If it were under steam, or under way, or under German crews—if there were any violence when the Germans tried to order the French to sea or tried to displace rebelling French officers and sailors—in any of these events it would be embarrassing to permit the British to know about it. Everyone expects that Germany will soon utilize the French fleet to war on Germany's opponents, if indeed some of the French ships are not already doing the dirty work.

The only question is where the fleet will be used: In the Mediterranean to reinforce the German army in Libya, to subjugate Malta, to smash at Gibraltar and make a run for the Atlantic, or to move on Egypt and Suez.

The French fleet, according to latest knowledge, included at least four battleships in commission, three more being built, two uncompleted aircraft carriers, at least twelve cruisers, fifty-two destroyers built and twenty-five building, and fifty-nine submarines built and twenty-two building. When the war began the French fleet was the world's fourth largest. Combined with the remainder of the Italian fleet, plus German units in the Mediterranean, the French ships would constitute a powerful force.

Germany still faces the problem of how to get her own major fleet units out of the Baltic and Norwegian ports where they have been menacing the supply line to Russia via Murmansk. A junction with either the German fleet or a Japanese fleet could be effected by the Latin ships if either Gibraltar or Suez could be passed.

A REAL WORRY

Folk who had imagined the country had about all the things to worry about that it could stand will be surprised to learn of a new worry of sizeable proportions launched by a small weekly newspaper in Kansas—the Jewell Republican. The Republican points out that at one time the United States had a depth of soil averaging nine inches but that at present the average depth is only four inches.

This is as serious as it sounds. If, apparently due to cultivation, the depth of the nation's soil has decreased more than 50 per cent in a few hundred years—the Republican doesn't say how long it was that the depth was nine inches—simple arithmetic would indicate that in a not too distant future there will be no soil at all. What then?

The Republican doesn't attempt to predict. In fact, it is doubtful if the Republican printed this item to launch a new worry in the minds of those to whom it was sent. Probably it was one of those tidbits which find their way into small weekly newspapers via boiler plate or scissors. Perhaps the editor will be surprised that anybody noticed it.

But, just the same, what is this country going to do when it runs out of dirt?

Has New York taken the place of London as the men's clothing style center? Men's trousers made in England after May 1 will have no cuffs, thus following in a month the new style inaugurated in the United States on April 1.

A member of the Union company, was severely burned about the hands while fighting the blaze. Given first-aid treatment at fire headquarters, he was taken to his home.
Hundreds of persons were attracted to the scene and watched the firemen battle the flames.
Chief Miller said the blaze started from a small brush fire in a backyard.

tersection of Darham Road and Trenton avenue, testified the Darham road is the through-highway. The defendant was driving on the through-highway and the plaintiff was attempting to cross it when struck.

Edward Pickering, of Woodbourne, land surveyor, testified as to the measurements and location of houses, trees and shrubbery at the scene of the accident which has been the site of several tragic motor fatalities including that of the death of a prominent Doylestown man more than a decade ago.

Francis Crowley, South Langhorne garageman testified as to the damage done to the defendant's car.

The defendant in his testimony said he, his wife and four children were riding in his car when he noticed a car coming from the east side of the road toward Darham Road. "I knew there was a 'Stop' sign there and I figured the car would stop, I never saw him hit me because his car struck my car on the side toward the rear," said the defendant.

Before the defendant took the stand, counsel for the defendant, Lawrence A. Monroe, made a motion for a compulsory non-suit Judge Boyer directed the jury withdrawn from the court room and following an argument, over-ruled the motion and the trial continued.

Mrs. Carmela L'Alessandro, wife of the defendant and the mother of their eight children, testified four of the children were in the car when it was struck.

"I heard my husband blow his horn and he slowed down quite a bit and it all happened so suddenly that everything went black," said the woman, who was seated in the front of her husband's sedan.

Mrs. D'Alessandro said the four children were badly cut and bleeding after the crash.

Marie, 14; her sister, Angeline, 12; another sister, Gracie, 10, all testified as to their positions on the rear seat of their father's car.

In rebuttal, Mr. and Mrs. Collins, the plaintiffs, denied they heard the sound of any horn while approaching the intersection.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

Walt Disney, long heralded as one of the few great masters of pantomime, uses this device to the hilt in his current and comic "Dumbo," the feature-length story of a little elephant whose big ears make his life a series of pathetic, exciting, heart-warming and hilarious adventures.

Possessing all the appeal of those other two pantomimic Disney stars rolled into one—Dopey and the Ugly Duckling—little Dumbo tumbles through this newest release at the Grand Theatre without uttering anything more than a couple of hicoughs. In the first place, the audience first sees Dumbo when the Stork delivers him to Mrs. Jumbo in the circus menagerie. Thus, he's just a tiny baby elephant and there's no reason why he should speak.

BRISTOL THEATRE

Ray Bolger, brilliant young dancer, and lovely Anne Shirley are teamed romantically for the first time in the sprightly new comedy musical, "Four Jacks and a Jill."

Bolger is cast as the leader of a small swing band which meets with financial reverses until Miss Shirley, as an ambitious, imaginative singer, equally impoverished, joins the group and steers them all to fame.

Roy Rogers, cowboy star of "Jesse James," comes to the Bristol Theatre today for a two-day run.

RITZ THEATRE

Designed for laughing purposes only, "Look Who's Laughing" united such radio and screen stars as Edgar Bergen, Charlie McCarthy, Fibber McGee and Molly, and other stars. Story revolves around the business woes of Wistral Vista's leading citizen, McGee, when he strives to bring prosperity to his community.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

DURATION LIVING!
There are several reasons why Americans will do much outdoor living in summer months. One is because of the new health programs to make all Americans a big increase in barbecue meals. Another is because of the new health programs to make all Americans a big increase in barbecue meals. Another is because of the new health programs to make all Americans a big increase in barbecue meals.

ENTERTAIN with a barbecue meal and you'll be the most popular of hostesses. Feed the family once a week or more in the garden and they'll think home grand! There is to be a big increase in barbecue meals this summer. Snellenburgs, knowing this, have never had so complete a barbecue stove and utensils corner as that now arranged in the new 4th fl. "Garden Furniture Center." All kinds of good long forks and knives for cooking, priced at $2.98 to $8.98. A barbecue stove, big or little, means fun and improved family spirit. See this display if you've nothing more than a pocket-handkerchief lawn.

HOME VACATIONING. Speaking of outdoor living rooms, they make grand home-vacation spots if stay home you must. To be specific about cost when it comes to furnishing the lawn is easier than "ceiling" for everlastingness. This wood, plus the Snellenburg insistence upon good construction, has produced for their new Summer Shop (4th fl.) grand "rustics" which actually thrive on hard weathering. Chairs are $8.00, tables are $6.50, settees are $12.98. Grand stuff, really, and at prices in which there is no profiteering.

ALMOST A GIFT are the bundles of fine stock which the Snellenburg 1st fl. Garden Mart is offering patrons for only $1.25 a bundle. Each bundle contains 5 healthy plants. Order by asking for A. B. C or D. A contains a red-yellow Tailsman, a red Hollande, a white Victoria, pink McFarland, yellow Thom; B contains a red and yellow Hoover, red Douglass, yellow DuPont, orange and scarlet McGredy, a salmon Perkins; C contains a pink Radiance, red Radiance, orange Van Rossum, yellow Roslyn; D contains a blackish red Quindar, red and yellow Autumn, red American Beauty, yellow Sister Theresa, a pink Pearl. Lovely!

KINDNESS TO PLANTS! Set a "good table" outdoors as well as in. Your garden friends need food as much as do humans. Be good to them and they will reward you extravagantly in beauty. Ever hear of all-round garden dinner called "Rose Food"? It's miraculous. One size, $1—5 lbs. net. Use it for practically everything green as well as roses. You'll thank me! Snellenburg's Garden Mart, 1st fl.

LABOR PARTNER! Ever seen a streamlined "Handi-Car" work? Ever feel its glide even when heavily weighted? It's the grandest working partner a garden lover could have. Incredibly cheap—worth its light metal weight in the traditional gold. Carries anything from leaves to rocks. Wouldn't garden without one. Back and temper saver. Snellenburg's Housewares Dept., 3rd fl. $5.25.

HAVE A "CLOVERED" LAWN! Nothing is more delightful than a really thick clover lawn. I have found for you the very thing I want myself—a tried and true lawn mixture with an abundance of sweet white clover. This lawn cover also includes domestic rye, timothy and red-top. You'll love it. The combination and quality are exclusive with Snellenburg's Garden Mart on the 1st fl. Now is the time to get garden-busy if you want a sweet garden carpet in the near future.

GARDEN WITHOUT DRUDGING. Don't break a back, crack a knee, or twist a muscle gardening! Be intelligent. Equip yourself with the very right tools at no great expense. In Snellenburg's 3rd fl. Housewares Dept. a golf-club-length weed cutter costs but 75¢, a lawn edger $1, a long-handled cultivator a mere 55¢ besides a dozen other "must" yet inexpensive tools!

How are your gardens, anyway? I've been in town four greenless weeks, so I'd like to know. Planted a MacArthur rose yet? Faithfully, FAITH.

BRISTOL HIGH SCHOOL NINE NOTCHED ITS THIRD STRAIGHT WIN OF SEASON BY DEFEATING NEWTOWN, 17 TO 2

By Jack Gill

Bristol High School's bombing baseball team notched its third straight win of the season yesterday by trimming Newtown, 17 to 2, in a game played on the local field. Coach Walter Rosser's charges have tallied 24 runs in the past three days in two games.

Once Bristol base runners reach first, they don't stay still for any length of time. Taking advantage of enemy hobbles as well as errors of omission that never reach the score-book, the Cardinals encircle the paths and eventually dent the home pentagon. What's more, they're hitting with men on the baselines at opportune moments.

Behind the effective seven hit twirling of Jimmy Hopkins, Bristol rapped two pitchers for fourteen safe blows. The homesters took a one run lead in the second when Capriotti singled to left and stole second. He later came home on Davis' rap into the same field.

Newtown tabbed their only two markers in the third session on hits by Hilsee, Wiggins and Harrison. A damaging error by Massi at third was instrumental in one of the scores.

Bristol shaved this 2 to 1 lead during their half of the third by counting four times. Cialella opened the inning by flying out to Daffer at short. But Joe Accardi hit safely to left and stole second. Scancellia went down on a grounder to Scott at third making it two away. But DiAngelo worked Matthews for a walk to keep the flame flickering. Army Capriotti then came through with a timely double to score Accardi and DiAngelo. Hopkins slammed another two base ply to center and Capriotti came home with the third Cardinal run. Massi kept the rally riding by ringing a single to left that brought Hopkins home with another marker. Davis popped to Wiggins for the final out, but Bristol assumed a 5 to 2 lead.

Sagolla, Davis and Capriotti batted hard in the fifth to add four more markers to the locals' total. The eight run flareup in the sixth, however, took honors for the afternoon. It all happened on four hits, three walks and two Newtown miscues. Accardi, Massi and Silvers Sagolla bopped singles, while DiAngelo came through with a double. The entire team was active in the batting box as the runs trickled across.

Army Capriotti, batting in the clean-up spot, came through with three hits out of four appearances at the plate. One was a double. On his last time at bat, he ingloriously struck out, but by that time he and the rest of the Cardinals wanted to "get away from it all." They did more running in the past two games than the track team will do in the Penn Relays today and tomorrow. Accardi, Massi, Davis and Silvers Sagolla all had two hits to their credit. For Newtown, Hilsee, batting deep in ninth position, had two of the losers seven knocks. Mayo Scancellia pulled the fielding gem of the day with a thrilling catch of Matthews' sock in the sixth inning.

HIGH SCHOOL RELAY TEAM DRAWS GOOD POSITION IN RACE

Bristol Boys To Participate This Afternoon in Bux-Mont Heat in Relays

BRISTOL WON LAST YEAR

Cardinals Will Also Run Tomorrow in A Heat Scheduled For the Afternoon

Bristol High School's relay team has drawn the favored pole position for this afternoon's Bux-Mont heat in the Penn Relays. According to the official call program released by Joe Labrum, press custodian, the locals will start out in lane A.

Last spring the Cardinals won the event due mainly to a great quarter mile by anchor man Bob Monti. It marked the second time a Lower Bucks quartet scored a victory. Morrisville's brilliant team of a few years back won the first ever run for Bux-Mont district squads. The heat was added to the program by Cardinal officials only a few years ago to add more competitive spice to the affair.

The Cardinals will also run in a Saturday heat that is scheduled to start at 12:45 p. m. The heat this afternoon will get underway at 4:10 p. m.

The line-up for today's event follows: Bristol, Sellersville-Perkasie, Morrisville, Newtown, Springfield, Hatboro, Buckingham, Jenkintown, Doylestown and Lansdale.

Langhorne drew the pole for tomorrow's heat that finds Matawan in lane two and Toms River in alley three. Princeton, Bordentown Manual, Birdsboro, Bristol, Hamburg, Bloomfield (N. J.) and Morrisville follow in that order.

Bristol looks to veterans Keith Rosser and Paul Ruby to pull them to a medal, although a repeat win is not expected. Silvers Sagolla may also surprise. Langhorne will be paced by Johnny Miller and Bill Paul in Saturday's heat.

WILLS PITCHES FALLS TO VICTORY OVER YARDLEY

FALLSINGTON, Apr. 24—Excellent relief hurling by Frank Wills plus a heavy barrage of hits in the sixth inning enabled the Falls Township high school to win its first baseball victory of the season here yesterday trimming the Yardley high school, 17-11.

Wills went on the mound in the third inning after the Yardley team had shellacked Johnny Mansmann. When Wills went in the bags were loaded. He forced home a run with a pass but then whiffed both Reso and W. Kinney to end the inning.

From then on, Wills silenced the bats of the Yardley team for all he allowed "Mike" Derrick's team in the last four frames was but a pair of hits. In the innings he pitched Wills had seven strikeouts to his credit.

Soviets Hold Initiative Against Big German Army

Moscow—Although 90 per cent of the entire German army is now reported to be in action on the Russian front, Soviet forces today continued to hold the initiative all along the line, registering new successes on three widely-scattered sectors.

At the same time, the Moscow radio announced that Norwegian guerrilla bands in the northern part of that occupied country were lending valuable assistance to the Red army by daring attacks on German troops bound for the Russian front, as well as by extensive sabotage of Nazi communication lines and material.

One of the most important advances registered by the Soviets resulted in the recapture of an "important point" near Kharkov, the Russian "Pittsburgh" in the Ukraine. Heavy losses were inflicted on the enemy as the Red army forces increased their pressure on the vital industrial city.

The Russians also continued to advance through forested areas near Bryansk, southwest of Moscow, after piercing German lines at several points of that sector yesterday.

Senator Davis Has Promise For Everyone

dreds of thousands of Americans to start the military training Senator Davis didn't think they would need in the face of Hitler's threat.

Advanced by any candidate for a governorship nomination in Pennsylvania, the ten-point program would be just a collection of promises which the candidate fashioned to drag National problems into a purely state election.

Proposed by Senator Davis, they become all the more incredible because he is fighting so hard to get out of the U. S. Senate seat in which he could actually do something about most or all of the ten problems he has chosen for electioneering purposes.
